

....Promoting a harmonized, risk-based systems approach to nursery certification

December 2012

Just in time for the holidays.... SANC website goes live!

Do you wonder what the SANC initiative is, or what resources it might be developing that can help YOU? Now you have a new way to find out.... Visit the SANC website at <http://sanc.nationalplantboard.org/>.

The site includes information about the SANC initiative itself, and is designed to build a solid library of real tools for both the regulatory community and the green industries as they work to harmonize nursery certification programs across the country and create systems approaches for growing healthier plants.

<http://sanc.nationalplantboard.org/> -- Put it in your favorites – bookmark it today. As resources are developed, you will see them added here!